BLUE AND GREEN.

I sat on the porch of Glady's Inn At Clifton Forge, one day, And thought how I'd heard, in the long ago, Some artist or other say "Blue and green never blend!" Though I never saw why A blue suit looked absurd With an evergreen tie.
As I gazed on the mountains So gorgeously green, Lolling up 'gainst the sky, Resting calm and serene, It struck me that nature Had known what to do When she made mountains green.
And painted skies blue.
So, to artists' opinions I will not attend
When they tell me that blue
And that green never blend.—Howard Saxby.

THE RIGHT THING

Is What the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Will Do.

THE CROSSINGS WILL BE SAFE

At Commerce and Lexington Streets in the Fifth Ward in the Near Future—Plans For the Next Meeting of the City Council.

That the C. and O. Railroad crossings at Commerce and Lexington streets in the Fifth Ward are dangerous no one will for a moment doubt.

But the one at Commerce street is the most dangerous, as coming down the hill from Forest avenue you are compelled to go through a cut, making it impossible for anyone to see an approaching train either from the East or West.

Our good City Dads have had their eyes opened several times by hairbreadth escapes that some of our citizens have made from being struck by trains on the road.

True, the engineers have blown their whistles and sounded the warning bell, but when the wind is blowing out of the Northwest and a train is approaching from the East, no one can hear the danger signals that are given.

At the meeting of Council last month the Mayor was ordered to notify the management as to the dangerous condition of these crossings, and call their attention to the fact that something should be done in order to make the crossings safe as far as the public travel was concerned.

In reply to the Mayor's letter George W. Lewis, Assistant Superintendent of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, wrote that he would be in the city to confer with the Mayor and see what could be done.

But up to the last meeting Mr. Lewis had not arrived, so the Mayor was authorized to again "touch up" his memory, which he did.

Mr. Lewis came in on No. 2 yesterday and immediately hunted up the Mayor, and together they went up and looked over the field of danger.

After a careful survey he told Mr. Cox that the matter would be attended to immediately.

As to the mode of signals used the safety gate is too expensive, the flagmen will sleep and get careless, and the best thing is the electric alarm bell, an instrument that performs its work without depending on human aid.

This is the most effective alarm or danger signal in use, and one that is now being used by all the leading railroads in the country.

It is an alarm bell at the crossing, connected with a device that extends along the track for some distance, the alarm being set off by the locomotive of the approaching train, and we can say that no one who has heard the electric alarm bell has been struck or killed by a train.

The railroad company is willing to do anything to make the safety of people along its route assured, and Mr. Lewis will have several good plans to suggest to the City Council at its next meeting, and we are sure the disposition on the part of the company is to do the right thing, and it will do the right thing.

In the meantime, let the people heed the signs that are up at these crossings, "Look Out for the Locomotive," and thus avoid a loss of life or limb and the regular damage suit that follows.

We are in favor of the electric alarm bell, and hope the company and Council will decide to adopt this system.

One Fare.

On account of the Republican Convention at Augusta June 12th the C. and O. will sell Round Trip tickets Maysville to Augusta at one fare 50 cents.

The new First Presbyterian Church at Henderson was dedicated Sunday. The church is built of stone and cost about $65,000.

Sham Jones delivered himself of the following "bright" remark: "If all church members got to Heaven you would have to sleep with your pants under your head to preserve your valuables." The report failed to state what kind of an audience Sam was addressing on this occasion, but he certainly meant men only.

THIS IS FINE.

We Mean the Way They Celebrate the Lord's Day at Millersburg.

Sunday night at Millersburg, in Bourbon county, Charles J. Jennett, Deputy United States Marshal, was shot and instantly killed by Frank Mitchell.

Jennett and the Mitchells, Frank and Rush, got a keg of beer from Paris Sunday, and by 11 o'clock that night were pretty full.

In a drunken quarrel Jennett attempted to pull his pistol, when Rush Mitchell caught and held him, while Frank Mitchell snatched City Marshal Vancamp's pistol and shot Jennett.

Rush Mitchell is in jail at Paris, while Frank made his escape.

Three unknown colored men cut Orange Morris's throat near Millersburg Saturday night and escaped. Morris will probably die.

THE POLICE COURT.

Yesterday's Proceedings Quite Out of the Ordinary.

Everything has been quiet for several days past around the Police Court headquarters.

But you can always rest assured of a "Red Monday," so to speak.

You know the boys will "fill up" on Saturday night, and you know also the Police will call them down when they get too gay.

Charles McElfresh's head got too heavy Saturday night, and one of the good law-protectors put him where they lose their heaviness—with Jailer Kirk. Judge Wadsworth assessed him $3 and costs—pretty expensive drunk.

Frank Nelson, for a little wee bit of a drunk, had to pay $1 and costs, and so did Willie Combs.

William Melvin got gay a big bit, and the Judge took the kinks out of him, charging him $3 and costs.

Paul Sullivan was fined $3 and costs for a good sized d. and d.

William Rosser was up for selling drinkables on Sunday instead of going to church, and Judge Wadsworth told him to help up the school fund $30 worth, and the costs were attached to make him think when it was Sunday hereafter.

Are you insured? If not, now is the time to provide yourself and family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as an insurance against any serious results from an attack of bowel complaint during the summer months. It is almost certain to be needed and should be procured at once. No other remedy can take its place or do its work. Twenty-five and fifty cent bottles for sale by Theo. Power, Druggist.
